Jeffrey Norman Brings to the Bench What a Justice Should— Honesty, Experience, and Respect

Jeffrey Norman enforces the law as a detective with the Milwaukee Police Department, practices the law as a civil litigation attorney, and teaches the law as a faculty member at UW Parkside. Norman has been active within the greater Milwaukee community for over a decade. Norman was born and raised in Milwaukee, graduating from North Division High School, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Marquette University Law School. Norman has worked for the Milwaukee Police Department since 1996, where he has had extensive experience in different areas such as homicide and violent crimes. He is now a detective in the Robbery Unit. Jeffrey was appointed as Milwaukee Court Commissioner in 2007. In 2004, Norman opened his own law firm in Milwaukee where he practices family law, real estate, and basic estate planning.

A note from Jeffrey:

During my time in the District Attorney's office and as a police officer and detective, I saw the real problems our community faces. From my time on the police force, in the DA's office, volunteering in the community, and mentoring at high school, I understand the situations our citizens cope with every day. I will approach the bench with compassion, integrity, and a sense of justice. I will stand by my decisions, taking responsibility to make our community safer with each verdict.
